HEALTHCARE SERVICES

WELCOME

John Bell & Croyden is a leading specialist provider of pharmaceutical and healthcare services.

With an innovative approach and a wealth of experience, we offer an extensive range of service and supply solutions, tailored to meet your business needs. As well as servicing hospitals, clinics, health professionals and wholesalers, we also supply a broad range of products for clinical trials and comparative studies. Our services include contract services for drug supply, Pharmacist and Technician Support, full stock management and occupational health services for non-clinical businesses.

We are proud of our close association with the medical and pharmaceutical professions and our long history of supply of thousands of medical, pharmaceutical and wellbeing products.

As the Royal Warrant Holding Pharmacist to Her Majesty the Queen, we have immediate on-site access to professional pharmaceutical expertise and advice, and we are immersed in London's world-renowned Harley Street Medical Area.

Our team has long been globally recognised as expert in sourcing almost any product, and in working closely with our customers to deliver the service in the way they need.

John Bell & Croyden* is part of McKesson UK, alongside brands such as AAH Pharmaceuticals, LloydsPharmacy, MASTA Travel Health and many others.

Whilst remaining independently run, it is backed by the buying power of one of the UK's leading pharmaceutical wholesalers, and McKesson's global presence, our in-depth knowledge of local licensing and regulations worldwide ensures we offer a reliable and ethical service wherever we supply.

Additionally, our independence within this framework enables us to offer your business a truly personal service.

We have experience of servicing major contracts as well as smaller orders, yet all receive the same high level of service by our team.

As we are not restricted to single sources of supply, we can offer consolidated delivery of products from different manufacturers to simplify your supply chain and bring the greatest level of cost-efficiency to your orders and effective management of your healthcare business.

KNOWLEDGE

A large white semi-truck is driving away from the viewer through a tunnel. The tunnel is illuminated by overhead lights, creating a blueish tint. The word "SUPPLY" is overlaid in large, white, bold, sans-serif capital letters in the center of the image. The truck has red taillights and a yellow reflective strip on its rear bumper. The tunnel walls are lined with a ribbed material, and the road has white lane markings.

SUPPLY

John Bell & Croyden Healthcare Services is uniquely placed to offer a combination of solutions to hospitals, clinics and other providers across the UK.

Unlike many UK wholesalers we have no minimum order size or low account surcharge, and fulfil orders ranging from just a couple of packs of tablets up to several pallets. Each customer is allocated a dedicated account controller to deal with all orders and queries to ensure the most effective communication.

We supply both licenced and unlicenced medicines across the UK at competitive prices, with the reassurance of the AAH network behind us to give us the most robust supply chain and help reduce out of stocks. Most items can be supplied the next working day or orders can be consolidated into scheduled deliveries as required.
